Trinity Technologies Recognized as Knowledge Management Innovator and Service Provider

Trinity Named to KMWorld's "100 Companies that Matter in Knowledge Management" and Selected as Speaker at Information Today's Enterprise Search Summit, May 2009

Wellesley Hills, MA – March 18, 2009 – Trinity Technologies Corporation has been named by KMWorld, a publishing unit of Information Today (ITI), as one of its "100 Companies that Matter in Knowledge Management." Trinity is a leading consulting and records management solution provider specializing in services for the EMC Documentum enterprise content management system.

Hugh McKellar, editor-in-chief of KMWorld, said: "Each company embodies as part of its culture the agile and limber execution of its mission, embracing a spirit of both adaptability and innovation. This year, we are pleased to add Trinity Technologies to our list of influencers in content, document and knowledge management."

KMWorld recognizes service providers that regard knowledge management as an "attitude", taking advantage of information at an organization's disposal and delivering it in a manner that facilitates sound decision making. Chosen via the collective judgments of KM practitioners, theorists, analysts and a selected group of users, KMWorld has published the list for eight years.

"For over twelve years, Trinity's goal has been to systematize corporate and plant information using our trademarked Information Asset® methodology, assessing business workflows and leveraging valuable data associated with capital assets," said Joseph Morray, Jr., President of Trinity Technologies. "KMWorld's recognition validates our achievements and underscores Trinity's commitment to deliver best-in-class service while continuing to innovate."

Information Today selected Trinity as a speaker at its Enterprise Search Summit on May 12-13 in New York City. Robert Antczak, general manager of Trinity's Products Division, will present "Selecting a Compliance and eDiscovery Solution" outlining the latest trends, best practices, and emerging technologies for proactive records management, compliance, and eDiscovery.
